

he wanted the district cleaned up? A. So far as gambling houses and women on the street were concerned.

Mr. Farley then called for the inspector's report of disorderly house arrests referred to yesterday in Commissioner Waldo's examination.

Q. How many disorderly arrests are shown? A. Three, made on complaint of reputable persons—one Father Dely of the Paulist Fathers.

Q. Was the element of outside disorder evident in these cases? A. Not at all.

Q. Why, then, did you disobey what you thought to be Commissioner Waldo's order? A. I used my best judgment.

Q. You had no other excuse? A. No. Q. In October, 1911, how many arrests did you make in disorderly houses? A. One arrest (after scanning a report).

Q. Do you know what arrest was made? A. The proprietress of a hotel in One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street complained in a letter, so I acted.

Q. Were there any outside indications of disorder? A. Absolutely none.

Mr. Farley read a memorandum signed by Commissioner Waldo, dated Dec. 21, 1911, and so on, stating that he would be held strictly accountable for the full enforcement of the law, but under no circumstances must a member of the police force be permitted to enter and degrade himself to get evidence.

A similar memorandum, dated Jan. 8, 1912, was read. In the latter one reference to the Mayor as the authority for the new order of things was read.

TOOK MAYOR'S INTERPRETATION OF POLICE AUTHORITY

Q. How did you interpret those orders? A. I looked upon them just as I looked upon my talk with the Commissioner.

The Mayor made it plain to me that we must not enter to get evidence as long as there existed no outward evidence.

Mr. Farley sought to show by the witness that he took no official cognizance of an apparent violation of the Commissioner's order of Jan. 8, 1912, when a policeman entered a disorderly house to obtain evidence.

Hayes answered that the policeman had been ordered to enter the house, but he had compromised himself and that he (Hayes) believed the statement.

Q. When Detective Walter went into this house to procure evidence, did he violate the Mayor's order referring to the methods of securing evidence? Another violent objection was made.

There was no evidence of what Detective Walter did the counsel said, but was overruled. A. He did violate the Mayor's order.

Q. Did you testify that you men not to go into disorderly houses? A. In this case the officer followed the woman from the street into the house.

The Hayes went into unprintable details of this case upon Mr. Farley's behalf. But he said that there were decided evidences of disorderly houses.

Q. How many arrests in disorderly house cases were made in February, 1912? A. There is no record of any.

Hayes then identified, shown to him many months ago, a photograph of a man by Examiner Farley.

HAYES IMPUGNS REPORT OF LAST WALDO STATEMENT.

Mr. Farley then came down to the interview with Commissioner Waldo that he had just had.

Q. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Waldo gave you no express orders, did you state, on Aug. 16, in conversation with the Commissioner, "You gave me orders not to raid?" A. Whatever I said then was not said.

Q. In the statement as I read it from these notes true or false? A. I have no recollection of the exact words as taken down by the stenographer.

"Did you recall having said that?" Mr. Farley asked. "Your directions I regarded as meaning that you did not want me to go in—that you did not want me to raid disorderly houses."

Q. Now if you could have obtained evidence against disorderly houses how would you report that criminal conditions were good?

Deputy McKay ordered the question stricken out.

The incident of May 22, in which Deputy Commissioner McKay figured, was introduced by Mr. Farley, who asked Hayes to relate it.

"I called at Police Headquarters and was informed that Deputy McKay wanted to see me," said Hayes. "I saw the Deputy, who asked me about a house at No. 127 West Forty-seventh street."

"I told him that I had no orders as to outside conditions in not proceeding against the house. Then the deputy and I went into Commissioner Waldo's office, and I repeated what I had said, asking the Commissioner if he would go after the house. He answered, 'No. Take the complaining hotel man, Walton, to court and let him prove the house is disorderly.'"

This is the incident which is relied on to make Deputy McKay as a witness. Mr. Thacker will call the deputy in an effort to corroborate, willingly or unwillingly, Capt. Hayes.

An adjournment until Tuesday was ordered.

National Wants to Absorb Empire.

The motion to join the National Bank of Commerce in absorbing the Empire Surety Company was denied by Justice Kelly in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, to-day.

The injunction was sought by the minority stockholders of the Empire Company. Justice Kelly said that the State Banking Department had full jurisdiction in the matter.

MR. STRAUS HOME WITH MOOSERS ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Candidate for Governor Will Probably Take the Stump Early in Campaign.

On his return from Syracuse, where he was nominated by the Bull Moosers for Governor, Oscar S. Straus arrived at Tarrytown about 3 o'clock this afternoon on a special train with the delegates from this city.

The train left Syracuse early to-day, but was delayed fifteen minutes to allow Mr. Straus to get aboard.

Before leaving Syracuse the candidate received various telegrams congratulating him upon having been chosen to lead the Bull Moose fight in this State.

He said he had no plans as yet as to what his activities in the campaign will be, but as State Chairman William Hotchkiss announced to the convention yesterday that "every member of the party would 'take the stump' this fall, it was considered likely that Mr. Straus will do his share of the speaking.

LINED UP THE CANDIDATES ON PLATFORM.

The selection of candidates by the convention, it was declared, was not entirely in accordance with preferences expressed by Col. Roosevelt, who had suggested Comptroller William A. Prendergast of this city for Governor and Dean Herbert B. Cook of St. Lawrence University as his running mate, but Chairman Hotchkiss said he knew the Colonel would be "immensely pleased" with the ticket.

The lining up of the candidates on the platform so the delegates might "look them over," it was pointed out to-day, was one of the unique features of the convention which nominated Mr. Straus.

Several of those proposed as candidates for places on the ticket were unknown to the majority of the delegates, who demanded an inspection so that a comparison might be made. The candidates stood the ordeal good-naturedly and the winner was chosen by a rising vote.

This is the State ticket named by the Bull Moosers: Governor—Oscar S. Straus, New York, Republican.

Lieutenant-Governor—Frederick M. Laxerport, Oneida, Republican.

Secretary of State—Homer D. Call, Oneida, Republican.

Comptroller—Horatio C. King, Kings, Independent.

Treasurer—Ernest Cawcroft, Chautauque, Independent.

Attorney-General—John Palmieri, Kings, Independence League.

State Engineer—O. M. Leland, Tompkins, Independent.

Court of Appeals—Carlos C. Alden, Erie, Independent, and George W. Kirshaw, New York, Independent.

"The convention illustrated that babes make good," Chairman Hotchkiss said early to-day, referring to "Suspend Jack" McGee's nomination of Mr. Straus.

800 BOYS AND GIRLS PARTICIPATE IN GALA FOLK DANCE FESTIVAL

Entertainment Held on Pier by Department of Docks and Ferries.

Eight hundred boys and girls, 800 of them in buoy costumes, were guests of the Department of Docks and Ferries in a "Folk Dance Festival" on the second floor of the recreation pier, at East Twenty-fourth street, this afternoon.

The festival was arranged by the New York Park and Playgrounds Association and is an annual affair.

There were fifteen numbers on the program. Groups of children from all parts of the city were seen in at least one dance, and some of the pier groups appeared on the programme more than once.

A band of twenty-six pieces furnished by the Department of Docks and Ferries played for the small dancers.

Calvin Tomkins, Commissioner of the department, was present to welcome the young merry-makers, and the festival was under the personal management of former District Attorney Eugene A. Philbin, president of the association; Miss Madeline Stevens, head supervisor of the association; Miss Ethel M. Slocum, her assistant; and the sixteen women instructors of the recreation pier.

Among the 6,000 persons present were numerous well known philanthropists, men and women, as well as social workers from other cities.

The pier was decorated with bunting, palms, growing sunflowers and other plants and blossoms.

ENFORCING MARTIAL LAW SOLDIER KILLS A MINER. ONE OF ATTACKING PARTY

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 7.—According to a report received here, Artillery George Long, Company B, shot and killed one of an attacking party while on picket duty near Sharon in the Kanawha valley to-day.

It is the first fatal shooting since martial law was declared by Gov. Glasscock in the strike region. Long was on duty near a wood and had been fired on a number of times from an ambush. He noted the spot from which the bullets appeared to come and fired, killing one of the attacking party.

Shooting is also reported to have occurred at Burnwell on Paint Creek, but details are not available as all wires into the troubled section have been cut. Additional troops have been hurried to Sharon and Burnwell.

TRAVERS CHAMPION GOLFER, BEATING EVANS FOR TITLE

OLYMPIC WINNERS COMPETE ON TRACK AT TRAVERS ISLAND

Galaxy of the Big Fellows Take Hand in Events—Mel Sheppard Missed.

3 to par 4. Evans equally near. Could not hit out. Travers 3 up.

HOLE 26—Evans lost, 5 to par 4 missing a 61-2 foot putt for a half. Travers 4 up.

Travers was 21 for first 7 holes of the afternoon round against par 38. Evans took 21 strokes. Evans had to fight now every inch his way.

HOLE 28—Went to Travers, 4-5. Travers was now 4 up.

HOLE 27—Evans lost it, 5 to par 3, by getting into the pond through nervousness. Travers 5 up at the turn. He was out in 14 to par 37, a new record for nine holes.

Among the Olympians competing were: Alvah Meyer, Pat McDonald, Jim Duncan, Harry Babcock, the Adams Brothers, Jack Eller, Abel Kiviat, Jim Rosenberger, Matt McGrath, Harry J. Smith.

The only notable absentee was the crack half-miler Mel Sheppard of the Irish-American A. C. who is in Canada competing at a big meet. His absence, thought many, was likely to result in the loss of his special event by the winged organization.

The programme contained fourteen track and nine field events.

Travers was perfect. Evans 2 up.

HOLE 11—Evans was bunkered on his second and got out short on the green. Travers played ideally and won in par 5, for Evans could not get the half by a foot on his putt. Evans 1 up.

HOLE 12—Travers was on the green on his drive; Evans in the rough on his second. Travers overdrove green on his second. Evans was well on the green on his third, but missed his putt. Travers won in par 4 to 5.

HOLE 13—Each had perfect drives. Travers on his third had it pitch between his bunkers on the green, being almost in the edge of one of them. Travers ran down a twenty foot for a 4 to the regulation 5, squaring the match, amid great enthusiasm. Evans was six inches on his putt.

Jerry had not his second wind. His manner and that of Fred Herreshoff, who is caddy for him, showed that.

HOLE 14—Travers lost the fourteenth, 5 to par 4, by missing a putt of less than three feet. Evans's ball four inches from the cup had stymied him. Evans 1 up again.

HOLE 15—Halved in a three hole. Travers had the best of it upon reaching the green, but missed a 15-foot putt by ten inches, overrunning the cup by the narrowest squeak. Travers was barely on the putting ground, but halved by sinking an eight-foot putt fine.

HOLE 16—Both were badly bunkered from the sixteenth tee. Evans in the trap in front of the green. Travers, in the ditch beyond. The latter studied the situation a long time. Each was short in getting out. Travers stymied Evans, who called for a card to measure the distance that he might not take advantage of.

Evans was six inches on his putt. It was just over, however, so he tried to jump Travers's ball, which he did wonderfully, holding out in par 4 to 5. The "Chick" came up a college yell. Evans 2 up.

HOLE 17—Halved in a good 4. Travers was lucky to halve, for his approach shot a back nine.

HOLE 18—Travers won it in a hole. 3 to par 4, by one of the greatest curved putts ever made—a trickle roll of 25 feet. The crowd, particularly the "Chick," yelled like Indians. Evans naturally didn't attempt to hole out. Evans ended 1 up on the morning round. Cards.

Evans 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10-11-12-13-14-15-16-17-18-19-20-21-22-23-24-25-26-27-28-29-30-31-32-33-34-35-36-37-38-39-40-41-42-43-44-45-46-47-48-49-50-51-52-53-54-55-56-57-58-59-60-61-62-63-64-65-66-67-68-69-70-71-72-73-74-75-76-77-78-79-80-81-82-83-84-85-86-87-88-89-90-91-92-93-94-95-96-97-98-99-100-101-102-103-104-105-106-107-108-109-110-111-112-113-114-115-116-117-118-119-120-121-122-123-124-125-126-127-128-129-130-131-132-133-134-135-136-137-138-139-140-141-142-143-144-145-146-147-148-149-150-151-152-153-154-155-156-157-158-159-160-161-162-163-164-165-166-167-168-169-170-171-172-173-174-175-176-177-178-179-180-181-182-183-184-185-186-187-188-189-190-191-192-193-194-195-196-197-198-199-200-201-202-203-204-205-206-207-208-209-210-211-212-213-214-215-216-217-218-219-220-221-222-223-224-225-226-227-228-229-230-231-232-233-234-235-236-237-238-239-240-241-242-243-244-245-246-247-248-249-250-251-252-253-254-255-256-257-258-259-260-261-262-263-264-265-266-267-268-269-270-271-272-273-274-275-276-277-278-279-280-281-282-283-284-285-286-287-288-289-290-291-292-293-294-295-296-297-298-299-300-301-302-303-304-305-306-307-308-309-310-311-312-313-314-315-316-317-318-319-320-321-322-323-324-325-326-327-328-329-330-331-332-333-334-335-336-337-338-339-340-341-342-343-344-345-346-347-348-349-350-351-352-353-354-355-356-357-358-359-360-361-362-363-364-365-366-367-368-369-370-371-372-373-374-375-376-377-378-379-380-381-382-383-384-385-386-387-388-389-390-391-392-393-394-395-396-397-398-399-400-401-402-403-404-405-406-407-408-409-410-411-412-413-414-415-416-417-418-419-420-421-422-423-424-425-426-427-428-429-430-431-432-433-434-435-436-437-438-439-440-441-442-443-444-445-446-447-448-449-450-451-452-453-454-455-456-457-458-459-460-461-462-463-464-465-466-467-468-469-470-471-472-473-474-475-476-477-478-479-480-481-482-483-484-485-486-487-488-489-490-491-492-493-494-495-496-497-498-499-500-501-502-503-504-505-506-507-508-509-510-511-512-513-514-515-516-517-518-519-520-521-522-523-524-525-526-527-528-529-530-531-532-533-534-535-536-537-538-539-540-541-542-543-544-545-546-547-548-549-550-551-552-553-554-555-556-557-558-559-560-561-562-563-564-565-566-567-568-569-570-571-572-573-574-575-576-577-578-579-580-581-582-583-584-585-586-587-588-589-590-591-592-593-594-595-596-597-598-599-600-601-602-603-604-605-606-607-608-609-610-611-612-613-614-615-616-617-618-619-620-621-622-623-624-625-626-627-628-629-630-631-632-633-634-635-636-637-638-639-640-641-642-643-644-645-646-647-648-649-650-651-652-653-654-655-656-657-658-659-660-661-662-663-664-665-666-667-668-669-670-671-672-673-674-675-676-677-678-679-680-681-682-683-684-685-686-687-688-689-690-691-692-693-694-695-696-697-698-699-700-701-702-703-704-705-706-707-708-709-710-711-712-713-714-715-716-717-718-719-720-721-722-723-724-725-726-727-728-729-730-731-732-733-734-735-736-737-738-739-740-741-742-743-744-745-746-747-748-749-750-751-752-753-754-755-756-757-758-759-760-761-762-763-764-765-766-767-768-769-770-771-772-773-774-775-776-777-778-779-780-781-782-783-784-785-786-787-788-789-790-791-792-793-794-795-796-797-798-799-800-801-802-803-804-805-806-807-808-809-810-811-812-813-814-815-816-817-818-819-820-821-822-823-824-825-826-827-828-829-830-831-832-833-834-835-836-837-838-839-840-841-842-843-844-845-846-847-848-849-850-851-852-853-854-855-856-857-858-859-860-861-862-863-864-865-866-867-868-869-870-871-872-873-874-875-876-877-878-879-880-881-882-883-884-885-886-887-888-889-890-891-892-893-894-895-896-897-898-899-900-901-902-903-904-905-906-907-908-909-910-911-912-913-914-915-916-917-918-919-920-921-922-923-924-925-926-927-928-929-930-931-932-933-934-935-936-937-938-939-940-941-942-943-944-945-946-947-948-949-950-951-952-953-954-955-956-957-958-959-960-961-962-963-964-965-966-967-968-969-970-971-972-973-974-975-976-977-978-979-980-981-982-983-984-985-986-987-988-989-990-991-992-993-994-995-996-997-998-999-1000

BURMAN, SPEED-MAD, MAKES NEW RECORD AT BRIGHTON BEACH

Goes Mile on Big Dirt Saucer in 47.85 Seconds, While Crowd Howls.

BRIGHTON BEACH RACE TRACK.

Sept. 7.—Bob Burman, driving "Against Bogie" in a half, 300 horse-power Benz, smashed the world's record for the circular dirt track mile this afternoon at the Brighton Beach meet.

Although his wife, spidery machine, driven only once before, swerved beyond his control, he stuck it on a thrilling, uncertain course around the giant saucer in 47.85 seconds. The record, established at the same track last year, was 48.62 seconds.

Burman's race against time was the big feature of the Brighton meet, which was flooded off the track on Labor Day. He might make his trial under the most favorable conditions possible.

Burman himself supervised personally the grooming of the course, the holes had been filled with cement and the corners graded.

Nevertheless, he found he had reckoned without the hairpin bends of the track when, after a minor event which opened the meet, he trotted his Blitzen Benz in front of the judges' stand.

He had the privilege of a flying start, and a dozen times on his preliminary laps, he discovered that things weren't exactly as he could have wished. Still, down came the record. Greeted by the roars of standing excited thousands, the booming of the band and the waving of myriad pennants, he announced he would make a try at his brand-new record later in the day.

It was a busy afternoon for Bob. He had jumped out of the Benz when he was at the lever in the third event, which followed his trial immediately. This was a five-mile race for non-stick cars of 600 cubic inches.

Some others over one thousand dollars, and others over a thousand dollars. I found it amounting to over twelve thousand dollars. I told her I was glad she was going back to Hungary to be with her relatives. She said she was very happy. I always greatly admired her strong and healthy and never used paint or cosmetics, things that appealed to me strongly.

She told me that if I ever came to Vienna to be sure to inquire for her, and she gave me this address which I copied from a letter she had just received from one of her brothers. The address is Frans Menshick, Vienna, 18th district, No. 2 Lehnerg street, second floor, eleventh apartment, Austria.

She told me a friend, a lawyer, was arranging her money matters and engaging her passage. She referred to her lawyer friend as a dear friend. I asked her if he was a good lawyer and I realized how entirely she depended upon him.

The last time I called on her in her West 64th street flat was on Saturday, July 12. She had sold all her pretty furnishings and showed me $400 she got for them. Her two big black cats, she said, she would give to the S. P. C. A., and her parrot she was to take with her in a little wooden cage she had made for him.

I asked her if she had straightened out all her affairs and had got her money and she said that the lawyer advised her not to take all of it, but to leave a few thousand dollars in New York banks where she could get it at any time. I asked her if she had got a draft or a check for the balance, and she said "no," that her friend, the lawyer, was to give it to her in a few days. She intended sailing on July 27. On that day I intended to say farewell to her at the dock, but could not leave business in time to do so.

Only by accident I saw the account in last night's Evening World, and it completely staggered me, for I supposed she was safe and sound at home before now.

Rosa was never drooped by the upsetting of the boat. She was strong and could swim, and unless stunned would have fought hard for her life. She could easily have held on to the boat as she was in the water.

She led a quiet, secluded life, made very few acquaintances and was a most kindly and cheerful woman and I was grieved to see what a strong hold this man had on her. I pray to God each day that this man get his deserts. I will wait so long, and if he does not I solemnly swear and vow I will avenge her.

Here is another point. She confided to me the last time I saw her that her lawyer was planning to accompany her on the trip. For God's sake do something quickly, for now that the same is up he will leave the country. I have told you positive truths.

Yours—

Attorney Burton W. Gibson to-day denied the authorities of any county or the representative of any litigant to bring charges of crime or misdemeanor against him. He declared upon arriving at his office in the Liberty Tower, No. 55 Liberty street, that his doors would be open all day to the reception of writs or processes, that he was absolutely innocent of any wrongdoing or any criminal knowledge in connection with the five tragedies that have been intimately associated with his legal career.

"You may say for me," said the lawyer, with cool precision, "that the five tragedies that have occurred in the course of my career at the bar are merely coincidental and nothing more. No proof can be offered to the contrary and every accusation or suggestion of wrong on my part is utterly without foundation.

"Take the case of George I. Malcolm (a wealthy Wall street broker who lost his life from a Fall River line steamer while he was suing Gibson) as an example. I knew him very well. I know absolutely nothing about his death, although I am accused by inference of assisting his shoulders are pretty broad and I can bear the burden
